Seraffyn's Mediterranean Adventure

Synopsis

Lin and Larry Pardey spent eleven years cruising the world in their backyard-built, 24-foot cutter Seraffyn. Seraffyn's Mediterranean Adventure covers three years of their cruising life, in and around the Mediterranean, where they explored the Spanish coast and then worked their way back down to the African coast and the Arab world. --This text refers to an out of print or unavailable edition of this title.

Customer Reviews

Beautiful clear writing. Interesting to follow Lin's thoughts as she approached a decade voyaging with Larry. Wonderful passages on engineless cruising.

These books are soo entertaining; you almost feel like you too are sailing to new destinations. I'm afraid I'm living vicariously through these delightful people. Having never sailed I can't help but wish I knew about nautical terms.

After the Baltic, 40 years ago the Pardeys sailed the Mediterranean. Their adventures then are still fresh today. Anyone interested in sailing today should read this book.

Lin and Larry Pardey share gold nuggets from their superb seamanship. Sailing safely spring, summer and autumn throughout the Med in a 24 ketch without engine in the 1970s. The book is also very well written and a joy to read. I have sailed the same route but still learned a lot.

The writer is sometimes not facing reality and very opinionated regarding the safety of small engine less boats. But interesting nevertheless.

What I wanted

This book is a nice read

An enjoyable and easy to read book. Very outdated (1970s) which makes it interesting in itself (villages in Majorca untouched by tourism). Extensive use of nautical terminology might put off non-sailors.
