Linda Rose Etter wrote "Talking Potato" in this great book for caregivers from Chicken Soup for the Soul. Her story is on pages 205 - 206. She is also the author of a devotional book with 75 devotions called, "Listen To HIS Heartbeat". Linda uses humor and life experiences to teach, exhort, and encourage people to spend time with the Lord and to listen to His voice (heartbeat). Linda received her MA in Biblical Studies and uses lots of scripture to teach what the Bible says. Linda taught school for 36 years in MI. These books make great gifts. My dad is suffering from early on set Alzheimer's and I got this book for my mom and she loves it!

My mother has had dementia for a couple years now and she found that reading about other people's experience helps.

Very good stories. Easy to read.

It was a very easy read, with personal testimonies of family/friends that were closely touched by Dementia. I myself am a caregiver to my Mother who has been living with my husband and myself for 9 months. The personal stories, I could definately relate to. If, there wasn't a tear in my eye while reading there was a smile on my face. I would recommend this book to anyone that is facing this terrible disease, it would even be a good read for an outsider that doesn't understand the changes that take place with a person that has dementia.

I have already completed a journey with a spouse with early onset Alzheimer's. At the time of his diagnosis, there were few resources available to me to learn more about how we could cope as a family living with the diagnosis. I took advantage of the opportunities to seek power through knowledge, but nothing compares to the real life stories of those who have shared the adventure. You can find joy in the moments!

Excellent book on various aspects of working with and understanding some of the methods of working with a Alzheimer/Dementia patient.

This is a wonderful book. It speaks on all aspects of living with and caring for someone with Alzheimer's or other dementia. Also gives first hand information from the people who have already been diagnosed. Alzheimer's is such a sad disease and the early onset of dementia is even more so. This is only the second "Chicken Soup for the Soul" book that I have read but I thought it was right on target. It was so intense, sad, and yet there was laughter. Would highly recommend it.

This inspirational book is written by real people living with the devastating effects of Alzheimers. Each chapter contains brief stories written by those who have the disease, their caregivers, and their loved ones. It is a must-read for anyone who knows someone living with this disease because it will help you understand what lies ahead as well as how to make each day a little easier.
