Customer Reviews

"With a wealth of material included, this new compilation provides a comprehensive guide, covering a rich variety of styles and techniques, making it the ideal reference book for both beginners and more experienced artists." â Leisure Painter (December 2011)

Noel Gregory is an artist who specializes in oil painting. He is the author of "Instant Oil Painting" and "Landscapes in Oils." Michael Sanders is a teacher and graphic artist and the author of "Landscapes in Oils" and "Painting with Oils." Roy Lang is a professional painter and teacher. He is the recipient of the 2002 Artist of the Year award from the Society of All Artists. James Horton is the author of numerous practical art books, including "Learn to Draw the Figure," "Pastel Techniques," and "Skin Tones." He teaches art in colleges around the UK and has exhibited his work widely, including mixed exhibitions at the National Portrait Gallery, the Royal Academy, and the Royal Portrait Society.

Not at all. Just didn't like the paintings in the book.

I love the as you go instructions especially for the seascapes.

This was a book for my wife who recently took up oil painting after years of water colors. she loves it, says it gives all the info she needs and provides ideas as well.

This book helped me considerably. I would recommend it for any artist whether they are beginners or advanced. I love painting seascapes.

I was under the impression that this was a step by step painting instruction book. That was not the case. Most of the paintings were unattractive and in a step by step format they were not! The Roy Lang paintings were the only ones that even resembles what I would call artist's paintings. I'm not at all happy with this book and will probably never use it.

The book offered a nice introduction of painting, covered topics likes materials, colors, tone, light, techniques, medium, etc. I like how the topics are arranged and the content goes deeper and more complex.
