Grade 1-2-Another appealing installment in a series of easy-to-read mysteries. Cam is helping her friend Eric find his permission note for their class field trip. After searching his pockets, the school hallway, and the bus, the young detective finally locates the note and Eric is allowed to go to the zoo. Short sentences, simple language, and plenty of white space make the story accessible.

Featuring bright colors and interesting details, the appealing cartoon illustrations set the scene and provide picture clues for the text. The short chapters and well-placed moments of suspense will keep children turning pages. Some astute readers may even solve the mystery before Cam does, making the book even more attractive.

K-Gr. 2. When Eric loses his permission slip to go on the class field trip to the zoo, his friend Cam Jansen uses her photographic memory to help him find where he left the note. As always in this lively Viking Easy-to-Read mystery series, the clues are there for the children who pay close attention to the story and to the clear, bright, detailed ink-and-watercolor pictures. In fact, most kids will solve the puzzle early on, and they may enjoy feeling a bit superior while Cam and Eric pursue false leads. A memory game rounds things out: children are invited to look very closely at a picture, then turn the page and answer questions about what they remember. What better way to engage beginning readers in the fun of paying attention to the words and pictures in a book. Hazel Rochman Copyright © American Library Association. Excellent book for 1st-2nd grade!

I Love this book! I usually like the Young Cam Jansen books but I really liked this one. It was so amazing. I said "What's going to happen next I need to find out!" I couldn't put this book down. If I were you I would get this book. Trust me you will love it and soon you will right a review like I did.

It is not easy to find chapter books for children who are just beginning to read longer books. Authors need to take note and remember this population of children (level K,L early M) Therefore, I loved finding these Cam Jansen books!

my grandson loves these books

I like this book because I really liked the mystery because it is very hard for Cam and Eric to find the zoo note.

You have to love Cam Jansen. When you're a kid, you read all of these stories about magic powers, mystery, and adventure. But everyone tells you magic can't exist. Cam Jansen manages to solve every case without the use of magic... she's a real girl. That's what makes her special and what makes you want to read more and more. Cam Jansen is a real kid superhero, and the thought that a person like her could actually exist... makes her the best kid detective ever! Our family loves Cam

Jansen!

My son enjoys mysteries and he has really liked reading the Cam Jansen books to me. In this book her friend Eric has lost his permission slip for the big zoo trip. After looking everywhere Cam uses her special memory to save the day. Included in the back is one of the memory games.

Recommended for ages 5-8 years and k-2nd grade.
