Customer Reviews

Lucy Wang was born in Taiwan and graduated from the National Taiwan College of Arts in Taipei, Taiwan, where she studied with several master artists. In 1993, an invitation from the Museum of Arts and Sciences in Macon, Georgia, brought Lucy to the United States, and she continues to exhibit in both Taiwan and the United States. She has taught Chinese brush painting for more than 20 years and is a popular demonstrator for art groups and a frequent juror for exhibitions. Lucy's work has been published on magazine covers, and her television program "The Magic of Chinese Brush Painting" is broadcast on several San Diego cable television stations. Her paintings were selected for use by Blue Mountain Note Cards, published by the Audubon Society and UNICEF, and made into cross-stitch patterns by Candamar Designs.

Thin book with very good technique explained. Good price, very good explanation of materials/form/technique. Worth the [small] price.-I had to buy this copy for a friend, as I did not wish to part with my own copy.

I found this book to be interesting, I thought it would be bigger and have more content , however I found it useful.

A handy little book that I use as a reference when I need a reminder as to the best way to paint a subject. It would also be a good book for a beginner or anyone wanting to practice their technique.

I wanted to paint Pandas, and this helped me do it.

Wonderful beginners guide to Chinese Brush Painting. A great way for water colorist to enjoy a challenge.

Basically a very terse introduction to Asian art. However the principles are well illustrated. And the subject matter is classically Asian.

Great book.

Clear explanations! A great book!
