Otakar Sevick was a Czech musician and violin teacher who wrote many studies, methods and teaching tools. Many of which are still important today. For instance his violin methods are still useful a century later and his studies remain second to none. This volume of 40 studies for right-hand technique includes exercises in string-crossing, arpeggios, triplets, changing bowing styles, staccato playing, legato playing and more.

Customer Reviews

My violin teacher uses this set of studies for teaching certain bowing techniques. With his guidance it has been an excellent set of studies. However, I would not necessarily recommend it for self-study. The product itself is very nice. The format is clear, easy to read and well-marked. This edition does include an introduction which seems to explain somewhat the purposes of the study; however, I have not yet taken the time to read it.

Very nicely done. Good music, my son is enjoying playing the various studies. The printing and binding is top-notch and appears very durable.

Nice

A classic, and necessary study for violin required for college.

good service and of course a great product.

as expected

I was worried that the book might lose a few pages or be in poor condition, but it was extremely professional.
